

Audrey Wilson Noble

January 2, 2022

Family was always very important to Audrey. She was devoted to her parents, Samuel and Isralee Wilson, her brothers, Sam and George, her nieces Wendi, Tracey, and Danielle, and her nephew Marcellus, as well as her Aunt Edith, Uncle Jerry, and a host of aunts, uncles, cousins and extended family members.

Raised in Brooklyn, NY, Audrey also made a home in her parent's birthplace, Timmonsville, SC, where she was an active member of Mt. Zion Methodist Church. She sang in the choir, and participated in community service activities, including tutoring adults in reading. She was a member of the United Order of Tents, a national service organization of African American churchwomen.

Interests

Audrey was an avid reader and book collector. One of the challenges that the family faced whenever she moved to a new home, was planning for where she would keep her books. Whether she was reading biographies, thrillers, or romance, Audrey stayed up-to-date on the best seller list. Always outspoken, Audrey used her literary background to analyze a wide variety of subjects. She was also a music lover, and appreciated different genres, including gospel, jazz, rhythm & blues, and doo-wop.

Outlook on Life

Audrey had a consistently positive outlook on life. Although she experienced a number of health challenges over the past thirty years, she remained upbeat, and looked at the “bright side” of situations in order to adapt and move forward. Her doctors often commented that her positive attitude helped her to maintain her health status for long periods of time.

Audrey Noble was a devout Christian, who loved her family and lived her life well. Let us celebrate her life, and remember her fondly.
